Chairman,

Other Triumphs to be Achieved

Many profess to believe that the recent victory of the Democracy is permanent, and that nothing more remains to be done, to secure a succession of triumphs for years to come. We are not of that number .party conflict, year after year, ready and willing to battle against the success of our principles, and under any name and in the lead of any man who promised victory and spails to their deluded followers,-When demagogueism is no more, and the love of money has ceased to have a place in man's affections, this opposition may cease, tut not before. Why then should we flatter ourselves that we are to have a political millenium even for a single year. We think it out of the question, and say to our friends every where, be not deceived by any such fancied security. It is true our party have done a great work, a noble work, in the recent contest. An issue with which the country has been threatened ; fearfully threatened for years, was boldly made, and as boldly met. We mean the question of Southern Slavery .-It is true it was clothed in the more palranks of the opposition who would scorn to the Abolition flag, the true emblem of the

When we next meet the enemy Kansas will have ceased to bleed, and what will be the issue then. There will be no more territory to dispute about, or raise false issues upon. Will our enemies skulk behind some "dark lantern scheme," some "oath bound" association or combination, or will they rally under the open and undisguised banner of the Northern Abolitionists !-Time must answer this question. At present there would seem to be no other alternative for them. We trust it may be so and that we may meet the enemy fairly upon that question, and if possible forever and we cheerfully recommend it to the settle it.
